

Using Recycled Glass

The Canadian container glass industry has always used industrial sources of container glass in new production. Multi-material recycling efforts currently operating across Canada have enabled the increasing use of recycled container glass in the production of new glass containers. With your help, we can increase the volume of cullet in the batch.

Amount of Recycled Glass in New Production

There is room to grow. If the supply is consistent and the quality good, Consumers Glass can use as much recycled container glass as can be recovered. So with careful management and cooperation through-out the life cycle of container glass, no glass container ever need go to landfill. Instead it can be remanufactured over and over and over and over and over....
